

Systemic constellations

Sunday 17th of june 2018

to support life in different relationships love, family, work and our wider community

A workshop for all of those who want to investigate what kind of dynamics are linked to your ancestors and/or your present family. The method is a powerful healing approach to look at entanglements among family members. Love and respect in a family system can be re-installed through a constellation and the personal development of the individual is empowered.

If you do a constellation you have the opportunity in these workshops to experience the entanglements that influence your everyday life and transform them into lovingful connections. The insight and intense experience that is available in constellation work can be a breakthrough in your perception of your ancestors and / or family. The invisible connections are made visible.

As a participant you are a witness of this process and you are more than a witness. Most of the work is connected to all the participants and healing takes place not only for the one involved in the constellations, also for the group members and those who are representing the family members.

As you notice, there is a clear distinction between subscribing to set your constellation and being a participant. This can be discussed at an intake interview on the phone. During a workshop, the number of constellations is limited but there is more room for participants. We strongly recommend to join first as a participant before you set your own constellation and this work is new for you.
